you were chosen May Queen.
Maybe I'll see you in Carthage
this summer! Wouldn't that be something.
You're a real sweet girl and I think you deserve only the best. That's why
I'm signing your year book.
Best of Luck to you Always see you this Summer

Kirkwood High

The rustle of textbook pages,
The pungent smell of newly-waxed floors —
Thus begins the 1966-67 school year at Kirkwood
High School.

Hesitant sophomores,
Part of the largest student body in the history of KHS.

Set out to attend Sophomore Orientation,
Mazes of buildings and classrooms
Fail to bewilder none.
Before sticky summer days give way to cool-
efficient fall,

KHS welcomes two foreign exchange students:
Jean Parratte of France,
Paula Drieman of the Netherlands.

Board of Education Unifies

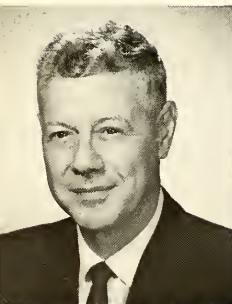

MR. A. L. CROW
Superintendent of Kirkwood Public Schools

Through reappointment of last year's administrative staff the Kirkwood Board of Education attempted to provide the Kirkwood School System with quality leadership and guidance. Mr. A. L. Crow, Superintendent of Kirkwood Schools, served as administrator to eleven elementary schools, two junior high schools, and the senior high school.

Associate Superintendent Mr. Warren Sarff directed certified personnel, curriculum, and instruction. Mr. Carl Henderson, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, coordinated the finances of the Kirkwood School District, and organized and presented the annual budget to the Board of Education.

Director of Facilities and Planning Mr. Harold Dessau supervised building maintenance and construction and campus maintenance. Mr. Murl Moore, Director of Special Services, administered the Adult Education School and Summer School. In addition, Mr. Moore assumed direction of Federal programs such as Head Start; Title I, a program for educationally underprivileged students; Title II, a library support program; and Adult Basic Education, a program to educate adults with less than eighth grade education.

At the end of the 1966-67 school year Superintendent Crow retired from the post which he had held for 12 years.

Administrators Supervise and Coordinate

MR. DONALD W. DUCHEK
Principal

Mr. Donald Duchek held the chief administrative position at Kirkwood High School. As principal his primary responsibility was that of maintaining and improving the school's high standards of instruction. Mr. Duchek's duties included development and enforcement of school policies, direction of curriculum plans, and maintenance of educational facilities and equipment needed for effective teaching and administration. He also supervised the selection of teaching and administrative personnel.

In addition to coordinating the academic program Mr. Duchek attempted to familiarize the community with the school's programs and to establish cooperation with other schools in the district. Finally, he had ultimate responsibility for business transactions of the school, for school records, for extracurricular activities, for discipline, and for coordination of all campus events.

Campus Activities

Mr. Charles Avey, administrator of the Junior Class, supervised the classrooms and curriculum of eleventh grade-level courses. He worked with Junior Class officers and advisors in coordinating all class activities. Mr. Avey represented the administration in his role as Student Council advisor.

Sophomore Class Advisor Mr. Robert Clodfelter supervised the guidance and testing programs and IBM scheduling of classes for all students. The Boys' and Girls' Pep Clubs and election of cheerleaders were also under Mr. Clodfelter's guidance.

Duties of Mr. Herbert Smith included supervision of attendance records and reports, the cafeteria, enrollment of new students, and campus safety precautions. As administrative sponsor of the Senior Class Mr. Smith helped seniors plan their fund-raising projects, class party, and class assemblies.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Helen Ballard, secretary to Mr. Duchek, the office staff and student assistants operated the high school offices and aided the administration by doing clerical work. Mrs. Daisie Mueller, working as Mr. Clodfelter's secretary, made schedule changes, prepared the daily bulletin, and organized the Driver Education program.

Acting as receptionist, Mrs. Marietta Lenich operated the switchboard, kept records on all athletic eligibilities, and handled official school correspondence. Balancing books and keeping records were the jobs of the school treasurer, Mr. Alvin Koerber. In charge of the school attendance records, Miss Betsy Bedell worked with Mr. Smith, while Mrs. Joan Fraser assisted Mr. Avey in coordinating Student Council affairs, extra-curricular activities, and the school insurance program.

Serving as secretary in the library, Mrs. Elaine Reichardt placed book orders, kept library records, and prepared new books for shelving. Organization of the guidance library and of student folders was the job of Mrs. Irene Senter, guidance secretary; Mrs. Shirley Buckles handled school tests, transcripts, and accumulative student records in the guidance office.

Mrs. Kathalia Prescott, school nurse, kept health records, supervised hearing and visual tests, and administered first aid.

Exceptional Students Face and

Paul Huebner submits AP History theme to Mr. Wagner for approval.

Honors and Advanced Placement courses at Kirkwood High School offered various challenges to superior students. Most academic classes offered either an honors program, in which the entire class's work was accelerated, or a contract honors system. In the contract honors system students in foreign language and social science classes completed honors work outside of class.

Through classwork comparable to that of college freshmen, Advanced Placement programs prepared students for May national tests. These tests were the means of determining which participants in the AP program merited college credit. Employing themes, term papers, and supplementary material, AP American History teacher Mr. Ross Wagner emphasized social, diplomatic, and economic developments in the United States. AP Calculus, taught by Mr. Harvey Welch, encompassed basic theories of differentiation and integration. Students of Bio-Chemistry, taught by Mr. Ted Stixrud, concentrated on more complex dissections of a pig fetus and of a mouse. Individual research projects, which examined both plant and animal life, enabled students to understand better biological complexities.

Representing five per cent of those receiving National Merit recognition in Missouri, fifteen Kirkwood High School seniors became National Merit semifinalists. In addition, twenty-eight other seniors received Letters of Commendation from the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. Having earned this recognition by scoring well on National Merit Qualifying Tests which they took in March of 1966, Kirkwood semifinalists entered finalist competition with about 14,000 other students across the nation.

Test scores, scholastic records, and school recommendations were the basis for the Selection Committee's announcement of National Merit finalists. Approximately fifteen per cent of the finalists received four-year scholarships varying in amount from $100 to $1500 per year. Individual need was the final criterion in the designation of scholarship winners.

More than 350 organizations offered one or more Merit Scholarships to the finalists. In addition, a number of colleges and universities sponsored needy Merit finalists attending those institutions.

Mrs. Craig willingly offers career advice to puzzled student. After many years of teaching and counseling in Kirkwood schools, Mrs. Craig retired at the end of the 1966-67 school year.

Providing services ranging from job-finding to test-scoring, the guidance counselors strived to help students surmount academic and social difficulties. Basic goals of the counselors included aiding students in developing good study habits, solving personal problems, helping them choose appropriate vocations, and preparing them to accept the future responsibilities of jobs and families. So that students might have the proper number of credits for graduation, counselors prepared and balanced the schedules of all students. In order to achieve these goals, counselors arranged periodic conferences with students.

College-bound students found valuable information concerning numerous colleges and universities in the Guidance Library. Information on various scholarships was also available to interested students.

Throughout the year the guidance staff administered an extensive testing program which included the Iowa Test of Emotional Development, the Ohio Psychological Test, the Scholastic Aptitude Tests, Achievement Tests, and the National Merit Qualifying Test. In order to determine which boys would be immediately exempt from military draft the Selective Service Examination was given at Kirkwood High this year.

Revision of the English 12 program enabled the Senior English Department to introduce an expanded curriculum to the students. Studies of the history of the English language through examinations of Beowulf, Chaucer's The Canterbury Tales, and Shakespeare's plays were augmented by a composition unit, based on the study of rhetoric, which contributed to the development of seniors' proficiency in writing. To complete successfully these writing assignments, it was necessary that seniors do reference work outside of class.

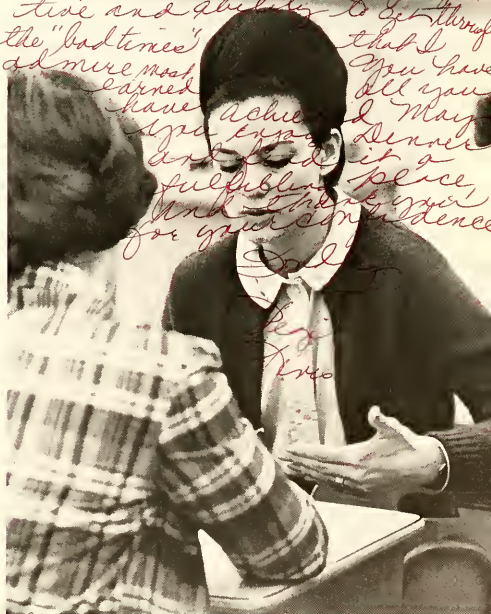

In addition, a chronological summation of the leading works of English literature from the seventeenth through the twentieth centuries added to the seniors' literary background for college. Among the British writers studied were Hardy, Browning, Conrad, Dickens, and Tennyson.

Inauguration of a full year Debate-Logic course in the regular Speech-Dramatics curriculum enabled students to take four years of speech and drama courses. The Debate-Logic course supplemented the regular speech course, which taught the basic types of speaking and fundamental debating. First semester studies of the Debate-Logic class probed the scientific method of reasoning and logic; the second semester stressed the application to debating of the principles learned. Students also gained an understanding of the basic systems of philosophy.

Completing this program was a course in dramatics. Studies included many aspects of dramatics: its history and structure, play production and staging, pantomime, acting, directing, and writing. In a practical application of previously learned techniques students received extensive training on stage during the second semester.

By questioning the validity of a remark, Mrs. Larsen encourages her students to do their own thinking.

Novels from England and the United States were the objects of intensified study by students in Sophomore English classes. By absorbing these books in thematic units, each student was able to grasp a better understanding of his world as well as improve his knowledge of the English language. Completing this study were lectures and writing assignments based on the reading units.

American views of life from that of the Puritans to that of modern day realists and existentialists formed the basis of the curriculum of English 11. Through extensive studies of Mark Twain and studies of American dialects, juniors acquired an appreciation for the literature of the United States. The curriculum emphasized a study of novels and writing based on the novels. Individual reading also played a sizable role in the program. In concluding the year's studies each junior prepared a term paper based on an American author or on an era in literature.

French customs fascinate students as Mrs. Blevins dramatizes a Parisian experience.

Foreign language students studied as many as four years in one of the four languages offered at Kirkwood High: Latin, French, Spanish, and German. During the first two years of each language course beginners learned fundamentals of grammar and structure. Elementary French, Spanish, and German also developed conversational ability through use of the language laboratory equipment. Third and fourth year courses furthered the development of fluency and emphasized the literature of the language. Occasionally some advanced classes in modern languages were conducted entirely without English.

Study emphasizing a single classical writer each year enabled advanced Latin students to explore in depth the works of three great Roman authors: Caesar in Latin 10, Cicero in Latin 11, and Vergil in Latin 12. Advanced classes in French examined styles of famous authors such as Gide, Pascal, and Molière. Among German authors studied were Schiller and Goethe. Fourth year Spanish students read the works of a variety of authors, including Galdos, Lorca, and Sender.

Stressing theory rather than fact, the Social Studies Department encouraged independent thinking in analyzing national and world situations. World Geography detailed the effect of climate, natural resources, and world trade on the economy of nations. Through a combination of classroom lecture and student research projects World History unfolded the history of Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia, New Zealand, Canada, and Latin America, emphasizing events after the fifteenth century.

American History developed the story of America's role in world history and related current national problems to past events. Employing classroom discussion designed to arouse student interest and participation, American Problems sought to acquaint students with problems in American soci-

Investigating human development and behavior from infancy through maturity, General Psychology students sought to define and explain such topics as popularity and leadership. Sociology, a study of the relationships of individuals in groups, compared and contrasted characteristics of peoples from various cultures. Economics, through a study of public and private segments of the American economy, outlined the basic principles of economics such as supply and demand, factors of production, and fiscal policy.

on Functions and Figures

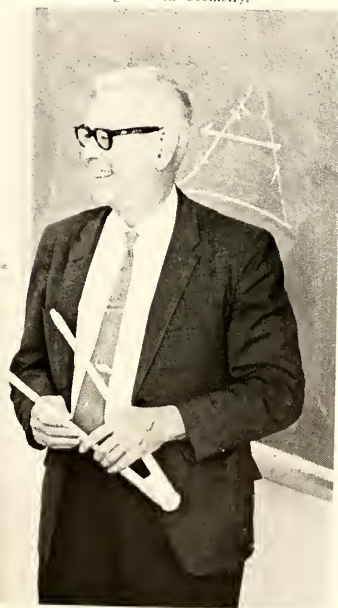

Offering a variety of courses, the Mathematics Department strived to prepare students for advanced mathematical studies or for practical applications of mathematics in jobs. General Math attempted to develop basic understanding of the number system and of the use of graphs, tables, formulas, and mathematical symbols.

First Year Algebra supplied further knowledge of the number system and of its relationship to basic algebraic theories, axioms, and properties. Plane and Solid Geometry introduced the concepts of developing proof and using deductive reasoning. This course also introduced a study of the relationships of geometric figures. Studies of linear and quadratic equations, graphing, logarithms, and progressions constituted the curriculum of Advanced Algebra.

Trigonometry, a semester course, explained the use of vectors, polar coordinates, trigonometric functions and relations, and complex numbers. Analytic Geometry introduced students to the study of geometric figures through various coordinate systems of graphing.

Through application of mathematical skills students in Advanced Placement Calculus solved problems in complex graphing and in differentiation and integration of numerical quantities.

Employing modern equipment and theories, Kirkwood High School science students enlarged their scientific backgrounds which better enabled them to comprehend recent scientific discoveries. While presenting a wide scope of interesting fields, including geology, meteorology, and zoology, Natural Science emphasized the study of living things. Through study laboratories, animal dissection, and class discussions Biology students were able to investigate the basis for the structural classification of plants and animals.

Using the atomic theory, Chemistry students gained a more complete understanding of such concepts as Avagadro's number, the composition of matter, and the basic laws of chemical reactions. Lectures, film strips, and chemical experiments clarified this atomic theory for the students.

In Physics the observations of the behavior of atoms in light, heat, motion, sound, and electricity confirmed the atomic particle theory. Mathematical calculations and experiments, which depended on pieces of new equipment such as a wave generator and a refilled air tank, proved rudimentary ideas of elements and atoms to Physics students.

Clothing students practiced techniques of garment fitting and employed sewing talents on a project such as a dress or slacks outfit. In Tailoring advanced studies of dress design and sewing enabled girls to sew a more complicated garment such as a lined suit. Studies in budgeting incomes and in making useful home repairs were part of Home Management.

Students planning business careers studied procedures of wholesaling, retailing, and banking in Commercial Mathematics. Embracing studies of financial reports, filing, and methods of business correspondence, Business Practice taught general clerical procedures.

Encouragement of creative expression was the basic goal of the Fine Arts Department. Art students under the direction of Miss Jean Sheppard used a variety of materials for expressing their ideas through drawing, painting, and design forms.

Assignments in mosaics, leather, and ceramic clay were completed in crafts classes. Mr. Charles Galvin, crafts instructor, encouraged creativity by giving students freedom to select any fourth-quarter project they desired.

As director of instrumental music Mr. Burton Isaac led the Varsity and Symphonic Bands, which together formed the marching band, at home football games and at pep rallies. Performing in new band uniforms provided by the Lions Club, the band helped bolster the spirit of Pioneer fans. Both bands and the orchestra participated in the Kirkwood and Suburban Music Festivals. Four musical programs, including Christmas and Easter concerts, highlighted the activities of the bands and Orchestra.

Like the instrumental music groups the Choruses also participated in several music festivals. Mr. John Owen, choral director, began teaching a new course this year: Fundamentals and Appreciation of Music. Students were taught to distinguish between the Classical style of Beethoven, the Romantic style of Tchaikovsky, and the Modern Style of Stravinsky.

General Metalwork included forge practice, work on the metal lathe, and work with art metal, sheet metal, and wrought iron. Mechanical and Architectural Drawing provided more technical training for advanced students who intended to enter engineering or technical fields after high school.

While waiting for his cue to lead the band in a rousing march, Mr. Isaac listens closely to speeches at a pep assembly.

Boys' Physical Education endeavored to promote physical, mental, and social growth in every boy. Stimulated by lectures and in-class team competition, students developed interest in physical activity throughout the school year.

While each class participated in the major sports of football, basketball, volleyball, and softball, the sophomore program included courses in first aid, track, weight-training, wrestling, and golf. Embodied in junior and senior classes were soccer and elementary and advanced gymnastics. Unique to junior classes was basic instruction in badminton. Angling, a new course this year, enabled seniors to learn the art of fly-casting.

Girls' Physical Education offered each class a balanced program of activities to stimulate interest. While striving for physical fitness, girls found many opportunities to practice good sportsmanship, to learn new skills, and to acquire knowledge of different sports.

Speed-a-way, gymnastics, basketball, and golf proved to be the most popular activities in the senior curriculum. Individual sports, such as modern dance, gymnastics, archery, badminton, and table tennis, were stressed in the junior program. Sophomores became acquainted with hockey and with fundamentals of movement, and also practiced skills in softball, volleyball, and basketball.

Promotion of skillful driving techniques and of students' knowledge of state driving regulations composed the Driver Education program. Seventy-three A.M. lecture classes held twice a week emphasized fundamentals of safe driving and of car mechanics. In addition to the teaching films shown in regular class sessions, a Missouri State Highway Patrolman visited to show films of accidents which resulted from careless driving. Under the direction of Mr. Nolan Hansen, Mr. Frank Czapla, and Mr. John Mansager, Driver Education students practiced actual driving techniques.

Hugh Chapman jokes with Mr. Mansager after lesson on parallel parking.

Providing vocational training and a source of income, the Cooperative Occupational Education program extended full academic credit to working juniors and seniors. Coordinated by Mr. Beecher Henderson, students attended three regular classes and a Physical Education class before reporting to their job-training stations in the afternoon. Participants selected jobs which related to their future vocations and worked a minimum of fifteen hours per week at their jobs.

All members of the COE class studied from a general text dealing with such topics as effective study habits, saving and investing, working with others, and labor unions. In addition, each student studied a manual which contained information related to his specific occupation. Combining the information in both areas, the student was able to work effectively at his job.

Federal funds enabled the school to add three thousand books to the library bookshelves during the year, bringing the total number of books to 14,500. Other additions included expansion of the newly classified pamphlet file and of the record collection, which was available for use by teachers. Faculty members also took advantage of the new picture and illustration portfolios for bulletin boards. Miss Gail Humphrey joined librarian Mrs. Wanda Willoughby and library secretary Mrs. Elaine Reichardt in providing library services.

Offering students a quiet atmosphere in which to study, Study Hall occupied a place in nearly every student's schedule. For the second year an optional opportunity was offered to juniors and seniors in the cafeteria study hall. With the provision that talking be kept to a minimum, teachers permitted students to study together in the south end of the cafeteria; in the north end teachers rigorously enforced the rules prohibiting discussion. Administrators felt that this new study procedure was exceptionally successful since it gave students a chance to help each other.

Speculating the prospect of having a television in the Senior Lounge, Mrs. Massey discusses proposed improvements with Senior Lounge Committee chairman Joe Knight.

American Flags Heighten Patriotic

Honorary Student Council member Sue Lang reviews minutes of last meeting.

Through the guidance of assistant principal Mr. Charles Avey Student Council completed another year of coordinating student activities. During the school year Student Council provided Kirkwood with a variety of services and entertainment.

Numerous plans materialized in the fall and progressed throughout the year. Purchase of an American flag for every classroom promoted student body patriotism and spirit. After a week-long collection period the A.F.S. fund surpassed the intended goal of $15000, thus enabling Kirkwood to participate in the A.F.S. exchange program. Council members acted as guides for the opening night of adult school in September and hosted a Career Night in January.

Homerom meetings opened communications between Student Council and individual students.

Council members discussed school plans and activities including plans for a Student Court at home-room meetings.

Money-making activities included the Spaghetti Supper and the weekly Snack Bar. By selling advertisements in basketball programs, Student Council increased its income. For money-making purposes as well as for a service project Council sold plastic yearbook covers, portfolios, and bookcovers.

Highlighting the year was the Talent Show, held on March 17. Organization and production of the show, a take-off on "Get Smart," provided entertainment for students, faculty, and parents.

For the first time Student Council offered scholarships of $200 each to two deserving KHS students. The money earned at the public performance of the Talent Show enabled a Student Council committee to award the scholarships to students.

Jean Parratte and Kerry Hogan review scheduling of events at Cross-Country meet.

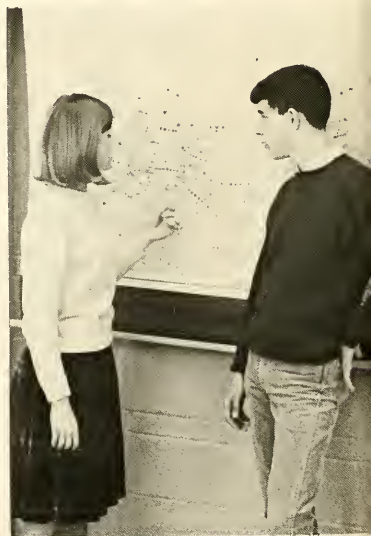

A mob of well-wishers greets Margie Wolf returning from a summer in Finland.

Kirkwood High School's fourth consecutive year of participation in the American Field Service program resulted in the arrival of Jean Parratte in August. Jean, Kirkwood's 1966-67 A.F.S. exchange student, came from Rosny-sous-bois, France, to spend the year with the family of senior Nick Hardy. In addition to frequent speaking engagements Jean's busy schedule in America included active participation in cross country, Male Choir, track, and Student Council.

Margie Wolf took part in the second phase of the A.F.S. exchange program: travel to foreign countries by American students. Margie spent the full summer of 1966 in the countryside of Finland, living with the Pursianin family at their summer house in Mikkeli.

of A.F.S. Program

Bausch and Edith Hunter became semi-finalist candidates for participation in the 1967-68 Americans Abroad program of the A.F.S. In January Kirkwood students, headed by A.F.S. Committee chairman Julie Lepine, raised $1600 through the sale of A.F.S. shares for bringing a foreign student to Kirkwood for the 1967-68 school year.

Kirkwood students were able to welcome another foreign exchange student through the International Christian Youth Exchange. Paula Drieman of Naarden in the Netherlands lived with senior Patsy Ott's family. Paula's activities included Student Council, Tri-Hi-Y, Human Relations Club, German Club, and girls' intramurals. These activities as well as her numerous speaking engagements enabled her to describe her life in the Netherlands to many Kirkwood students.

At K-Klub Coke Party Margie Wolf encourages foreign exchange student Paula Drieman to participate in intramural program.

Compressing the life and spirit of Kirkwood High School into one three hundred page book was the challenge faced by the 1967 Pioneer staff, sponsored by Miss Betty Ann Butts and Miss Jean Sheppard. In order to meet this challenge representatives of the staff attended yearbook workshops at Washington University, the University of Missouri, and Ladue High School. During the three selling periods, which stressed the spirit of life at Kirkwood High through colorful posters, a record number of yearbooks were sold.

Among the other Pioneer activities were the annual Pioneer Prance, the Pioneer Christmas Card Mailing Service, and a Halloween party with the Call staff. These activities not only served as staff morale boosters, but also helped earn money for printing costs.

In addition to the bi-weekly editions the staff published several specials including six-page issues at Thanksgiving, Christmas, and April Fool's Day and a ten-page senior issue. Through the sale of 572 subscription cards, the sale of tickets to the "Pop Hop," the publication of 1966 football programs, and the sale of advertisement space in the paper, the staff successfully financed the Call.

Representatives from the Call staff attended conferences at the University of Missouri, Washington University, and McMurray College. A member of the Missouri Interscholastic Press Association, the Kirkwood Call received excellent ratings.

HUMAN RELATIONS CLUB

Seeking to promote better understanding of society and individuals within society, Human Relations Club offered members a diverse program of speakers and activities. Kirkwood delegates participated in the bi-weekly meetings of the National Conference of Christians and Jews at Washington University.

Under the supervision of sponsor Mrs. Nancy Welch members compiled and sold the annual KHS Buzz Book. Funds from the sales enabled the club to give money to a needy family through the Christmas exchange.

Giving insight into specific fields, guest speakers included Sergeant Hubert Smith of the Green Berets, who answered questions about the Vietnamese war and people; two men who had been helped by Alcoholics Anonymous; and Paula Drieman, Kirkwood's I.C.Y.E. student, who spoke on her native Netherlands.

Climaxing the year's activities was the Intergroup Youth Conference at Soldan High School, which encouraged better relations between various races and religions.

International Relations Club attracts many interested students with a long list of activities on Club Day.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

International Relations Club's tea in November proved to be a gathering for many foreign exchange students in the area who were eager to tell of their countries and customs. Speakers — including Jean Parratte of France; Margie Wolf, Kirkwood's AFS representative to Finland; and Paula Drieman of the Netherlands — visited the club.

Through the Christmas for Care campaign club members were able to contribute fifty dollars to underprivileged peoples of the world. Adoption, arranged through the Christian Children's Fund, Inc., of an orphan in Saigon also broadened the club's horizon. Such activities encouraged and assisted unfortunate people throughout the world.

Better understanding of diverse philosophies and cultures was the goal of International Relations Club under the sponsorship of Mrs. Betty Lee.

Tom Crabtree, Dave Fauntleroy, Steve Edwards, and Dave Nelson of the Kirkwood High School Debate Club this year earned National Forensic League honors for outstanding achievement in interscholastic contest. This year's debate topic was, "Resolved: the United States' foreign aid shall be limited to non-military assistance."

Kirkwood's debaters under the direction of Mr. Murray Smith gathered information on the topic, organized it, and presented it at various speech and debate contests throughout the St. Louis area.

Debate Club's goal was to earn enough points in debate to be selected to compete in Regional Finals in April and in State Finals in May. Demonstration debates, a debate workshop, and a Student Congress — a mock government program — helped prepare members for the season's debates.

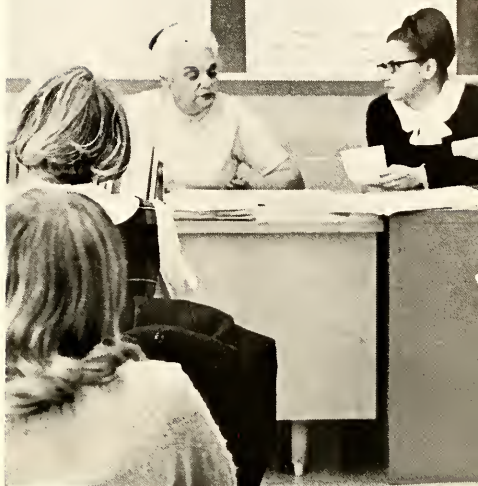

Debaters provided coat check facilities at several school dances. This service earned money for transportation expenses to and from debates.

GERMAN CLUB

Planning the year's schedule, the German Club Steering Committee, consisting of the club officers, representatives from each German class, and sponsor Mrs. Henrietta Steinkamp, arranged activities which increased members' knowledge of the culture of German-speaking peoples. Members shared the German love for fine living at two annual German Club feasts, the Club picnic and the Christmas Dinner.

Giesella Moeller, a German exchange student, presented a picture of modern Germans. Other special activities included a trip to the Vienna Boys' Choir concert and a tour of a century-old German school in St. Louis. At the end of the year the club chartered a bus to Hermann, Missouri, for the day-long Mai Fest, a reproduction of a German folk festival.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

Meeting bi-weekly, Chemistry Club, sponsored by Mr. Laverne Adams, sought to supplement the curricular chemistry course mainly through further observations of heat-generating reactions. Club investigations included studies of explosives and pyrotechnics (fireworks). Students observed the colored flames resulting from the spontaneous combustion of glycerin and potassium permanganate during a pyrotechnics display.

Glass etching and glue-making constituted some of the more practical projects of the club. At the end of the year club members studied qualitative analysis, discovering characteristics of unknown quantities through testing.

Outside speakers and two field trips broadened students' concepts of chemistry. After listening to a speaker on plastics, members visited Monsanto research labs.

Liaison Between Man and Environment

BIOLOGY CLUB

Biology Club members under the supervision of Mr. Carl Piro chose zoology as their specific field of interest for the year. Dissections of a frog and cat required many days of intensified study and investigation. Studies of the intelligence of mice aided students in understanding the reasoning power of mammals.

Field trips enabled students to understand better the zoological developments around St. Louis. Visits to Purina Farms and the Museum of Natural History introduced the club to possible future vocations in zoology. Actual observation of scientific advancements in the St. Louis Zoo and Rockwood Reservation furthered members' growing interest in biology.

ASTRONOMY CLUB

Astronomy Club, sponsored by Mr. Arthur Bignall, held regular observing sessions at the McDonnell Observatory in joint meetings with the St. Louis Astronomical Society and the McDonnell Astronomy Club. Through the courtesy of the McDonnell Aircraft Corporation members viewed NASA color movies of the astronauts' walks in space and the Gemini 6-7 rendezvous.

Astronomers worked towards completion of the club project, the grinding of a parabolic mirror for the club telescope. Completion of the telescope increased the range of observing sessions at school.

Concentrating on the photographic and scientific aspects of the space program, Mr. Robert Cox of Sky and Telescope Magazine lectured on recent space flights. Mr. Thane Bopp, a Kirkwood resident, presented a demonstration on astrophotography, using slides he himself made.

SPELEOLOGY CLUB

While continually stressing safety through the use of helmets and lights, members of Speleology Club practiced rope climbing to prepare for difficult cave passages. A monthly field trip under the supervision of Mr. John Lyles developed interests in spelunking and launched individual trips.

Exploration of Pleasant Valley Cave involved a drop entrance down a cable, a crawl through a narrow water passage, and navigation of a maze of tunnels. At Hamilton Cave a burrowing side path contained flying bats. Students' knowledge of limestone formations expanded upon visiting Green Cave where stalactites and stalagmites abounded. An encounter with knee-deep mud presented an obstacle at Mud Sink, but club members plodded onward.

In February the club joined the Speleological Society of America, which offered films, training programs and emergency assistance to aid cavers.

RIFLE CLUB

To stimulate interest in the safe handling of firearms was the primary goal of Rifle Club members. Students under the sponsorship of Mr. Toby Ward practiced at the Kirkwood Rifle Range two days a week for competition with other St. Louis area schools.

Not only did club members work to prepare for competition with other schools, but they also sought to raise their National Rifle Association ratings. These ratings ranged from pro-marksman, the novice rating, to distinguished, an expert rating achieved by few riflemen.

In actual matches each contestant, aiming twenty-two caliber target rifles, shot at a separate target in each of four positions. Every contestant was allowed twenty minutes for twenty rounds and five shots for each target. Due to the concentration required for each shot, most marksmen used the full minute allowed at every target.

Accomplishment

CHESS CLUB

During weekly meetings Chess Club members not only discussed chess techniques and strategies but also played many games other than chess. Club members brought checkers, Gogh — an ancient Japanese game — and various other games for those not involved in chess tournaments. Some students also instructed those who wished to learn to play chess.

Sponsors Mr. Paul Boltz and Mr. Weldon Long, who started the club two years ago, arranged chess tournaments between Kirkwood and other St. Louis area schools in hopes of stimulating more interest in the game. To promote a more competitive atmosphere and to prepare for interschool games, students played several tournament games with other members in the club.

FUTURE TEACHERS

Providing a $200 scholarship for its most deserving member, Future Teachers Association, sponsored by Mr. John Reid, promoted the career of teaching. By selling candy and stationery and by operating the coat check service at dances, club members raised the amount necessary to sponsor the scholarship.

Attending workshops, students gained understanding of unusual facets of teaching. "Teaching Around the World" was the topic of a panel discussion presented at the University City workshop. Teachers from foreign countries discussed the differences in curriculum and in teaching techniques in their nations. Throughout the year various speakers lectured to members on the best courses to take in college and how to choose the school in which to teach.

During the school year each club member was allowed one day off from school to observe the class of any teacher in the Kirkwood schools. Aside from these opportunities interested students corrected tests for some of the teachers in the high school.

Future Vocations

COE CLUB

Two members of Kirkwood's COE Club this year received election to offices in state and national organizations. Elected as parliamentarian of the Missouri COE Club was Beth Lee; Cindy Gregory became State Historian for the Distributive Education Clubs of America. Kirkwood has only been a member of the Distributive Education Clubs of America for one year.

Paralleling its state-wide activities, the Kirkwood COE Club, sponsored by Mr. Beecher Henderson, maintained an active agenda on a local level. In addition to regular meetings club members organized and presented a banquet for the employers of COE Club members. Given on March 14, the banquet was attended by several community leaders. By giving this banquet the students were able to display some of the skills they had acquired in the COE curriculum.

Radio Hams and

RADIO CLUB

In order to promote interest and activity in amateur radio the Kirkwood High School Radio Club under the guidance of Mrs. Charlotte Bell Conley began the school year with money-making activities. Selling of cashew butter crunch candy and an auction of various electronic equipment provided money for more extensive development of the club's radio station, KΦAZV.

Individual skills of members produced the highest high school club score of the amateur radio club field day contest. In February the club entered an all-night marathon and contacted fifty-one overseas stations in the limited period.

Members and parents discussed future plans at a March dinner. Field trips to Southwestern Bell Telephone Company and to local radio stations furthered the club's knowledge of broadcasting and electronics.

CAMERA CLUB

Many of Camera Club's activities took place in the KHS darkroom, located in the science building. Kirkwood photographers made use of darkroom facilities in developing and printing their own work. Mr. Laverne Adams, sponsor, and various students demonstrated photographic skills and techniques. Members also viewed instructive films on the use of the camera and the developing and printing of film. Bake sale profits made possible the replenishing of darkroom supplies and the addition of new equipment.

Camera Club provided new pictures—taken by club members around campus—and captions bi-weekly for the "Candid Camera" bulletin board in the hall of the West Building. All Kirkwood students and faculty members were eligible to compete for $10 first prizes in each of the two categories of the club's "Snapshot Contest" held in February.

Profitable Fall Play Highlights

Marsha Landgraf responds with distaste as Mic McBrayer offers reviving "tonic" in fall play.

Contrary to past traditions membership in Little Theater this year was open to anyone who was able to earn 15 participation points by the end of the Fall Play. Accordingly, Mr. Nolan Hansen, club sponsor, encouraged officers to initiate more activities. These included trips to Webster College Repertory Theatre to see two Shakespearian plays, Twelfth Night and A Midsummer Night's Dream. By watching films on different facets of direction and production and through participation in dramatic workshops, members were able to gain experience from professionals.

In addition to the annual Fall Play, Little Theater also produced two one-act plays: "Curse You, Jack Dalton," and, "Sorry, Wrong Number." See How They Run, the Fall Play, reflected Little Theater's general financial success in productions this year. Membership in Thespians, a national honor society for high school drama students, was granted to those who earned one hundred participation points.

Wearing red "T's" for older members to sign, Little Theater probationers Steve Jennings and Gretchen Hewitt fulfill initiation requirements.

FINE ARTS CLUB

Interest in the history of art and great artists and a desire to develop the talents of club members served as the motivating factor in Kirkwood's Fine Arts Club. Students, sponsored by Miss Lynn Adams, presented programs on such topics as J.R.R. Tolkien, Handel's "Messiah," and Baroque music. Kirkwood's artists also displayed their own talents in the fields of painting, folk music, and dramatics.

Outside activities in various art fields also occupied club interest. Members participated in an area-wide hootenanny sponsored by the Folk Music Club of Clayton High School. Fine Arts Club visited the St. Louis Art Museum, the St. Louis Festival of Arts, and the Gateway Theater. An interview with a well-known St. Louis sculptor was also on the agenda. Club members paid for these activities through dues collection and several bake sales.

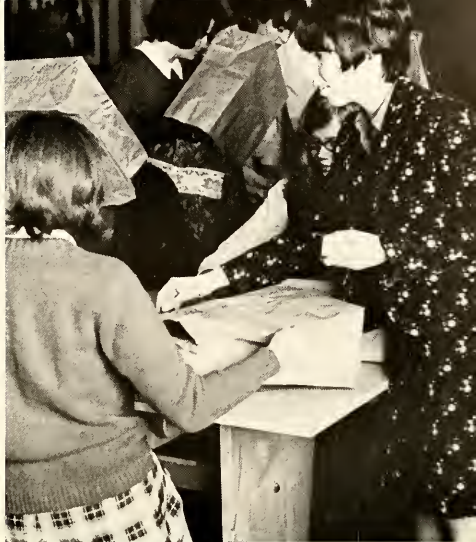

Contributions

ART CLUB

Art Club kept KHS aware of artwork through the spring Art Contest and the donation of a glass showcase, located at the entrance of the auditorium, for display of art classes' works. Profits from the fall bake sale and the publication and sale of calendars featuring dates of school functions provided funds for the showcase.

Miss Jean Sheppard, club sponsor, spoke on European art, illustrating with slides of her European tour, and Mrs. June Barnett discussed principles of dress-designing. Another special feature was a workshop in contour line drawing. Field trips of the club included visits to the St. Louis City Art Museum and to an art glass factory.

Social activities of the club were the initiation party in the fall, a Christmas party including a gift exchange among members, and a Vincent Van Gogh Birthday Party in the spring.

Directed by Mr. John Owen, A Cappella choir participated in school assemblies and festivals as well as in community activities. In the fall the major project was preparation for the Christmas concert, which included many ancient songs from several countries.

Members demonstrated individual musical abilities at Washington University in the April Solo and Ensemble Festival. Numbers by such composers as Brahms and contemporary Houston Bright made up the Spring Vocal Concert on May 12.

Christmas carolling at Flaming Pit Restaurant and in Bedford Oaks subdivision was a community project of the ninety-five choir members. A party after the concert unified the class in spirit.

As in previous years the chorus cut a record and sold it to KHS students and teachers. Included in the record was a variety of songs performed by all KHS choruses, but featuring the choir.

Advanced Girls' Chorus, also guided by Mr. John Owen, furthered girls' previous knowledge of rhythm and tone. Participation in the music festivals developed harmony among members.

Sophomore Girls' Chorus harmonizes an ancient hymn with Mr. Owen.

Kirkwood vocalists expressed their interest in music through membership in Male Choir, a completely extra-curricular activity, and through membership in Sophomore Girls' Chorus and Mixed Chorus, activities requiring courses in vocal music. These groups, performing as a group or in selected ensembles, participated in various concerts throughout the St. Louis area. While Sophomore Girls' Chorus and Mixed Chorus sang different styles of songs, Male Choir concentrated on spirituals.

Kirkwood High School presented the Christmas Concert and the Spring Concert in which Kirkwood's choral groups sang. These groups also took part in the Kirkwood Music Festival and the St. Louis County Music Festivals, activities which Kirkwood traditionally attends.

Composed of 55 members, the Kirkwood High School Orchestra rehearsed daily during third hour under the baton of Mr. Burton Isaac. Having 31 strings and a full compliment of winds and harp, the orchestra was fairly well balanced.

Featured music at the Winter Concert included three movements of Beethoven's Fourth Symphony and music to the entire Nutcracker Suite. Music for the Spring Concert consisted of the finale of Sibelius' Symphony No. 2 Overture, Russian Easter by Rimski-Korsakov, and music of Shostakovich, Wagner, and Smetana.

Participating in the Kirkwood and All-Suburban Festivals, the Orchestra received excellent comments. Individuals from the Orchestra played in the Solo and Ensemble Festivals of the Kirkwood School District and St. Louis County. Because of the success of the "100 Years in Education" program in 1965 the Orchestra presented a similar program this year in combination with approximately 1000 other students from Kirkwood public schools.

In two concerts, one in the fall and another in the spring, the bands presented classical and modern music to the school. Two of the pieces played in the fall concert were "Finale" to the New World Symphony Number Five by Anton Dvorak and Belero by Maurice Ravel.

Participation in several contests highlighted the bands' activities. Playing as a whole in All-County festivals, the bands received excellent ratings. Several individuals from both bands also competed in the County Instrumental Solo and Ensemble Festival.

POPULARITY POLL

Seniors voted for the ten most popular senior boys and senior girls in the annual Popularity Poll. Candidates were selected on the basis of their congeniality, leadership, scholarship, and contributions to the Senior Class and to the school.

This year for the second time in the history of Popularity Poll a tie occurred, resulting in twenty-one rather than twenty candidates for most popular boy and girl. From these candidates seniors chose Pam Fauks as most popular senior girl, and Dean Hoag and Jeff Markle, who tied in the election, as most popular senior boys.

Squad Elects Representative of School Spirit

Friendly people rub elbows at the Kirkwood-Webster Friendship Dance.

Following tradition, the annual Friendship Dance was held on the Saturday night after the Turkey Day game. Sponsored by the Baron's Hi-Y of Kirkwood and several Webster Hi-Y's, the dance featured goal posts, football players, and footballs as decorations to accent the theme of "Night on the Gridiron."

With the reflection of a sparkling mirror ball overhead, a large crowd danced to the music of Herman Grimes and the Spectres in Kirkwood's gymnasium.

Highlighting the dance was the presentation of the football maids, who were selected by the football teams on the basis of school spirit and loyalty to the team. The crowning of Judy Brandau and Sue Banker as the 1967 Kirkwood and Webster Football Queens, along with the presentation of the Frisco bell to Kirkwood and the little brown jug to Webster, climaxed the evening.

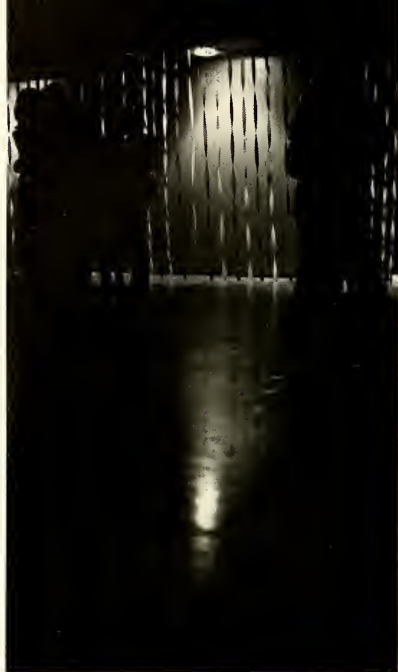

Elation overwhelms Webster's Bill Wittler and Sue Banker and Kirkwood's Judy Brandau and Rex Brinkman following announcement of football queens.

Aura of Winter

Couples enjoy romantic music at Pioneer Prince.

Entering a glistening, frosty world of fantasy, Kirkwood couples enjoyed a spellbinding evening at the "Ice Palace," sponsored by the Pioneer staff. Ice blue streamers framed the dance floor which lit up with reflections from the glittering mirror ball overhead. A blue fountain bubbled opposite the throne, which was accented with a glimmering crown. Charlie Wasserman's Band provided the musical setting for the "Ice Palace."

Anticipating their moment of honor, the six maids, chosen by the staff for their contributions to Kirkwood High School through the Pioneer, graced the dance. Following the precedent set last year, the queen was elected by registered voters who had purchased yearbooks. Climaxing the evening was the crowning of Peg Richardson as the 1967 Pioneer Queen.

Jeff Markle, Kirkwood's foremost letterman, received the 1967 silver hatchet in recognition of his outstanding contributions in both athletics and leadership. Other candidates nominated by K-Klub included Dean Hoag, Dave Holley, Joe Knight, Tom Mueller, Frank Neukomm, Dan Scott, and Cliff Towns. Hatchet Man Jeff was elected by a vote of registered seniors.

K-Klub again this year sponsored the traditional dance on Saturday, February 18. Decorations were set to the theme of "A Walk Through the Cherry Blossoms," and two large crepe paper cherry trees adorned the gym. Co-chairmen for the backward dance were Judy Ludvik and Cathy Cargill.

Approximately 700 people attended the Hatchet Hop to honor the 1967 Hatchet Man while dancing to the music provided by Charlie Wasserman's Band.

At the Coronation Prom a crowd of KHS students awaits announcement of May Queen.

Honoring the nine most outstanding senior girls, the Coronation Prom furnished a delightful setting for the crowning of the 1967 May Queen. Hawaiian decor provided the atmosphere for the formal dance, co-chaired by Julie Lepine and Ann Strode.

Preceding the Coronation Prom was the annual May Fete and May Fete Dinner. Escorted by their fathers, senior girls participated in a ceremony which honored all the girls a week before the Coronation Prom. May maids, revealed during the May Fete, were nominated by a vote of seniors.

Led by sophomore Paul Olson and junior Kerry Hogan, the Kirkwood Cross-Country team under the direction of Coach Fred Lyon completed a laudable season. Although hampered by illnesses and injuries, the Pioneers won all dual meets and placed high in all other meets. Defeating such adversaries as Webster Groves, Riverview Gardens, and Mehlville, the harriers were, nevertheless, edged out of first place finishes in the Ladue and Beaumont Invitationals.

By placing second in the district meet, Kirkwood was able to send eight men to compete in the state meet in Columbia. The spirited Pioneers, again led by Olson (third Place) and Hogan (eighth place), took second place in team competition in the meet. Lettermen this year were senior Tom Mueller, juniors Tom Davis, Rick Bosworth, Alan Long, Rick Rogge, Ted Kraft, and Kerry Hogan, and sophomore Paul Olson.

With 17 returning lettermen the football Pioneers, coached by Mr. William Lenich, compiled an 8-1 record. After an opening non-league loss to Normandy the Big Red won all succeeding games, including six league encounters, for the Suburban South championship. Overpowering McCluer for their fifth triumph, the Pioneers developed unity for Turkey Day action.

For the first time in four years Kirkwood gained possession of the Frisco Bell by defeating Webster Groves 19-7 in the annual Turkey Day game. Kirkwood scrambled to a 19-0 half-time lead on precision touchdown passes to All-Conference end Jeff Markle and All-Metro end Bob Luther, and on a quarterback sneak by Dean Hoag. With diligent pass protection Hoag completed 15 of 28 passes for more than 150 yards. Alert defensive play marked the second half as the Statesmen scored only in the final seconds and the Pioneers concentrated on ball control. For their peak performance throughout the season, climaxed by the Turkey Day victory, the Pioneers were ranked fourth in the St. Louis area.

"B" FOOTBALL

Under the direction of Coach Frank Czaplá the "B" football team combined exceptional individual performances and all-around teamwork to complete a 6-1 season. Throughout the entire season the "B" Pioneers outscored their opponents 160 to 31 points.

Starting the year with a contest against arch-rival Webster Groves, the "B" Pioneers easily defeated the Statesmen 19-0. Following the conquering of the Mehlville Panthers, Kirkwood met the Lindbergh club. Exhibiting exceptionally high spirit, the Pioneers kept a close score throughout most of the game but fell by a touchdown to the Flyers. Bouncing back after this defeat, the Pioneers routed Ladue 26-6 and Parkway 34-6. Concluding the season were victories over McCluer 14-0 and University City 34-0.

"B" BASKETBALL

Despite a schedule of games against formidable competition, the Kirkwood "B" basketball team finished a 13-5 season. Although dropping two league games early in the season, the Pioneers rebounded and won seven of the last eight league encounters to finish the year in third place in the Suburban South League.

Spotlighting the year's effort was the first annual Suburban South "B" Basketball Tournament, held in conjunction with the varsity tournament at Lindbergh. Competing with Webster Groves for the championship, the "B" Pioneers captured a close game to win the trophy for the tournament.

Directed by Coach Paul Meyer, the "B" Pioneers accumulated a large following of students by competing in close, exciting games. Through play this season sophomore boys developed skills for future years' varsity squads.

Steady Performances

Steady team performance marked the thirty-fourth year of coaching for Kirkwood's Varsity Basketball coach, Denver Miller. Noted for a defense which allowed an average of 54.2 points per game, Kirkwood won its first 15 games and ended regular season play with a 21-3 record.

Kirkwood took first place in the Maplewood and Normandy tournaments, the latter championship coming after overtime victories at the expense of Ritenour and McCluer. Despite a six-point disadvantage with only a minute and a half remaining in the Ritenour game, Kirkwood pumped in enough points to force the game into overtime, which the Pioneers won 61-59. Although losing to McCluer by 17 points at half-time in the championship game, the Pioneers fought back and eventually won in three overtimes 68-67. In preparation for Regionals at Kirkwood the Pioneers defeated such opponents as Ritenour, St. Louis University High, Lindbergh, and Webster Groves.

Regional play was a disappointment for Kirkwood as the Pioneers, although seeded first, fell to a third place finish. After defeating Latheran South, Kirkwood fell before Webster Groves 52-50 and was thus eliminated from state competition.

Again Completes Winning Season

Completing its second year of existence as a varsity sport, the soccer team under Coach Frank Czapla's guidance compiled a 9-2-4 record. As a member of the newly-formed Suburban Soccer League Kirkwood finished in second place behind Normandy.

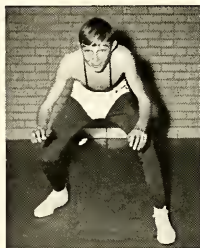

Hampered in the early season by lack of a powerful offense, the Pioneers were held to ties in several league contests. These ties caused the Pioneers to lose the championship of the league, although Kirkwood lost but one league game. Highlighting the season was the final scoreless tie with Normandy on the Vikings' field.

At the end of the season were the St. Louis District Soccer play-offs. After defeating Cleveland through default in their first game, the Pioneers met the traditionally strong St. Louis University High team. Despite good playing, Kirkwood dropped a heartbreaking contest 2-0.

Coach John Owen's matmen caused enthusiasm for wrestling to return to the high school as the Pioneers compiled a 10-3 regular season record. Although hampered somewhat by injuries, the grapplers won their first nine matches before bowing to a powerful Mehlville squad.

Edging Webster by a point for second place behind first place Mehlville in the District tournament, Kirkwood advanced five wrestlers to the Regionals. Led by captain Jon Stevenson, matmen John Michel, Don Scott, Chuck Fitzgerald, and Rich Ringis entered the Regionals at Hazelwood.

Stevenson was the only Kirkwood wrestler to enter the state tournament, since he pinned his Regional opponent. Jon completed the season with a 22-1 record as he placed third in the state in the 138-pound class.

For the fourth successive year the Pioneers captured the conference championship meet at Clayton. A tie for second place with Webster Groves in the District meet preceded the Pioneers' third place finish in the state meet at Columbia, Missouri, two points behind first place finisher Webster Groves.

Outstanding members of this year's team were seniors Gary Birum and Jim Wheeler, four year lettermen; seniors Dan Marting and Murphy Lov-

Long Practice

Starting practice in late January, the Kirkwood track team worked long hours in order to produce a capable team. Under the direction of Coach Fred Lyon and his assistants, Mr. Paul Meyer and Mr. John Reid, the Pioneer trackmen prepared for the season through a program of weight lifting and long distance running.

Early season meets such as the District Invitational and the State Indoor Meet developed the Pioneers for several forthcoming dual meets. Highlighting the season was the second place finish in the St. Louis District Invitational Meet, in which Kirkwood fell to Webster Groves by a single point. Completing the 1967 track season was the State Outdoor Track Meet held at the University of Missouri in Columbia.

for Varsity Competition

Competing in its first full season as a sophomore team, Kirkwood's Junior Track attempted to fulfill its obligation of developing the boys in the skills of track. Directed by varsity track coaches—Mr. Fred Lyon, Mr. Paul Meyer, and Mr. John Reid, Junior track members increased their proficiency in the fine points of short and long distance running, high jumping, pole vaulting, discus throwing, and other track events.

Running against Junior track teams in conjunction with varsity meets, the Junior Pioneers competed in more meets than ever before. An opening season victory over Lindbergh marked the beginning of a highly successful season. Despite losing some key members to the varsity squad, the Junior track team contributed good performance during this year's track season.

Skillfully hurling himself through the air, Steve Butler completes broad jump.

Supervised by Coach William Lenich, the Kirkwood golf team completed a highly successful year. Lacking a school golf course, Pioneer golfers practiced on the Crystal Lake Course. Kirkwood's golfers developed into a leading team as the Pioneers became a power in the Suburban South League. Strengthened by six returning lettermen—Rex Brinkman, Jeff Parshall, Bud Baker, Charles Morgan, Cole Jackson, and Steve Sumner—the Pioneers met the challenge of many opponents.

Following opening season matches against strong opponents such as John Burroughs and Parkway, the Pioneers competed in the first annual Suburban South Tournament held at Arrowhead Golf Course. Concluding the season was the state golf tournament held at the University of Missouri at Columbia.

Through Rigorous Seasons

Continuing its dominance in the Suburban South League, Kirkwood's tennis team, directed by Coach Arthur Stout, participated in eighteen dual meets, fourteen of them against league rivals. Selected after March tryouts, the varsity squad included Bob Carson, Bill Freivogel, and Joe Carson as singles players, Bill McDowell and George Lawrence, and Ron Jones and Richie Richardson as doubles teams.

Competition against such teams as Principia, Country Day and John Burroughs aided the Pioneers to prepare for the third annual Kirkwood Invitational Tournament at Kirkwood Park. Ending the season, the Pioneers traveled to Columbia for the Missouri State Tennis Tournament.

Joe Carson returns serve across the net.

Spring Practice Prepares

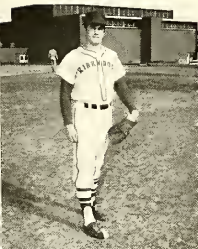

Rick Curtis and Bob Luther warm up before practice.

Starting practice immediately following the conclusion of varsity basketball, the Kirkwood baseball team practiced unrelentingly in order to redevelop the skills of baseball. Following two weeks of tryouts, Coach Denver Miller made the necessary cuts to reduce the squad to a perfected nucleus. With only eight seniors making the team, Coach Miller stressed the 1967 season as one for building future varsity teams.

Utilizing skills of experienced players from last year's "B" team and skills of returning lettermen, the Pioneers completed a victorious season against such teams as Lindbergh, Webster Groves, and Ladue. Following an opening season 4-3 victory over Lafayette, a regular season schedule of twenty-one games prepared players for the state elimination tournament held late in the spring.

"B" BASEBALL

Practicing on the baseball diamonds in Kirkwood Park, Kirkwood "B" team baseball players improved their skills in hitting, fielding, and base-running in early spring sessions. Intrasquad games prepared the boys for competition against member and non-member teams of the Suburban South League. Directed again this year by Coach Herschel Page, sophomores met such rivals as Webster Groves, University City, and Affton.

Although losing four sophomores to the varsity squad, "B" Pioneers improved as the season progressed. In an attempt to ready sophomores for varsity baseball, Coach Page developed an aggressive team, led by pitchers Joe Mathias and Scott Brennan and hitting and fielding stars Jim Mory, Walter Jackson, and Tom Peterson.

Coach Page lectures on refinements of baseball in dugout conference.

Varsity Club Members

Sponsored by Mr. Paul Meyer and Mr. Frank Czapla, Kirkwood's outstanding athletes continued to encourage school spirit and sportsmanship through Varsity Club's functions. By the sale of Turkey Day buttons and Varsity Club caps the club raised money for future activities.

Highlighting the year's program was the Varsity Alumni Basketball Game. During half-time intermission, initiation of new club members took place at the second annual Diaper Bowl Basketball Game.

Under the direction of president Dean Hoag Varsity Club prepared and sold the programs for the Regional basketball tournament held at Kirkwood. Concluding the year's activities was the spring picnic for members at Babler State Park.

and Spirit at Sports Events

Under the direction of Mrs. Mary Davenport Boys' Pep Club doubled its membership to a total of 270. Money-making projects of selling pens and Pioneer derbies raised necessary funds for the year's programs.

Through promotion of the wearing of red and white on Turkey Day BPC sparked enthusiasm for the traditional game. As an innovation this year BPC organized into a unit for cheering during games. As another first this year BPC reserved a section exclusively for its members, who aided the cheerleaders and introduced new cheers. Led by president Dave Holley, BPC united with Girls' Pep Club and Varsity Club to generate school spirit during the state Regional basketball tournament held at Kirkwood.

Pep Club Exuberantly Inspires

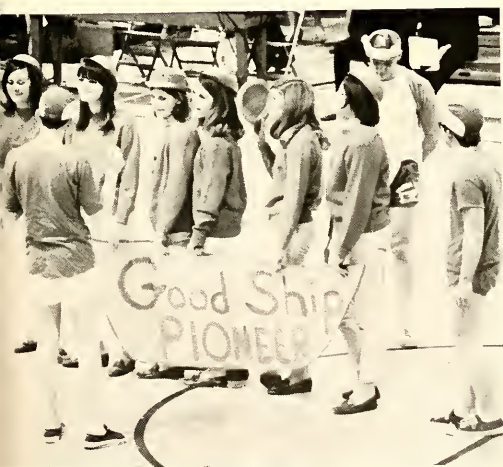

Taking advantage of having the largest club membership at KHS, Girls' Pep Club worked through its members to promote pep and good sportsmanship at all sports events. In order to create enthusiasm and interest in "B" team games, Pep Club sponsored the election of six sophomore cheerleaders for the first time.

Encouraging school spirit, Pep Club bought two permanent white canvas banners for the gym, a nine-foot balloon which flew atop the flag pole on Miller Day, and extensive decorations for Turkey Day. To contribute toward these expenses club officers and sponsors, Miss Olivia Horn and Mrs. Mary Alice Massey, planned several money-making projects: the sale of pencils, ribbons, and shakers and the sale of football and basketball passes. With traditional parades, pep assemblies, "pep tags," and busses to away games, Pep Club inspired the teams to greater efforts.

Greater Pioneer Efforts

PEP CLUB OFFICERS

Selected last year by the members of Pep Club, the five officers for the 1966-67 school year provided the leadership and enthusiasm necessary to keep Pep Club performing its service activities for the school. In addition to the regular duties of her position, each officer was placed in charge of specific club activities: parades, sale of basketball and football passes, chartering of busses, decorations, and membership.

Working closely with the sponsors, Pep Club, led by its officers, held an election for "B" team cheerleaders. Sophomore cheerleaders brought new interest in and better response to "B" team games. Like the Varsity cheerleaders, their older counterparts, the sophomore cheerleaders decorated the locker room before all important games. Following the completion of the "B" team basketball season the cheerleaders gave a banquet for the players.

To Provide Leadership

Kirkwood's eight cheerleaders, the "Red Peppers," started the year sporting new red wool skirts which took the place of their traditional red slacks. Cheerleaders earned money for their new outfits by holding a carwash during the summer.

A new system of elections which gave the entire student body the opportunity to select its cheerleaders began this year. Under the system six new cheerleaders were chosen from the Junior and Senior Classes, and two members of last year's squad, seniors Pam Fauks and Diana Wood, were retained as co-captains of the squad.

Working with Pep Club to promote spirit, the "Red Peppers" delivered boxes of "Special K" to team members and decorated the locker room before important games. Mrs. Mary Alice Massey, the cheerleaders' sponsor, aided them in all activities.

K-KLUB

By accumulating one hundred points in extra-curricular sports activities, a girl could earn her "K" and be initiated into K-Klub. To keep up with the number of girls earning one hundred points, K-Klub changed its constitution and initiated girls as soon as possible after they became eligible for membership instead of waiting for a semester initiation.

Under the sponsorship of Miss Marjorie Bust, Miss Karen Kaufman, and Mrs. Helen Taft K-Klub encouraged physical improvement through participation in the intramural program and in a new project, a sports day during which K-Klub played host to volleyball teams from other schools.

Providing social development, K-Klub sponsored two dances: "Sadie Hawkins Backward" and the "Hatchet Hop." Other projects included a Mothers' Tea, a Father-Daughter Banquet, and a Coke Party for sophomores.

Accomplishment and Skill

VARSITY HOCKEY

In completing its fourth consecutive undefeated season, the Varsity Hockey team rigorously tested its new goal cages during practice sessions and games. Under the supervision of Mrs. Helen Taft hockey players developed individual skills and worked to coordinate their efforts as a team.

With well-balanced offensive and defensive units Kirkwood kept the ball in its opponents' territory most of the time. Only University City, considered to be the hardest team to defeat, was able to score against the Kirkwood team. Kirkwood defeated Bayless 4-0, Brentwood 1-0, and Ritenour 1-0. Then the Kirkwood team traveled to University City and emerged from the game with a 1-1 tie. Finishing the season against Webster Groves, Kirkwood again tied, as neither team was able to score.

Working for a goal, Linda Evers and Alice Ranney dribble and pass the ball during a varsity hockey game.

Through Sports Girls Develop

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Typical enthusiasm of KHS girls for basketball resulted in a varsity team of sixteen members chosen from the three class teams and coached by Miss Marjorie Bust. A rule change which allowed unlimited dribbling modified the girls' style of play considerably. Team members spent a great deal of time during practice sessions working on dribbling, passing, and shooting skills in order to prepare for inter-school games.

Meeting its arch-rival Webster Groves for the first game, the varsity team lost 39-40 in an exciting, fast-moving contest. Kirkwood emerged victorious over Ritenour by a score of 32-23, but fell to a strong U-City team 23-27. For the last game of the season Kirkwood journeyed to Brentwood and found an easy victory 47-20.

VARSITY VOLLEYBALL

Following the completion of successful seasons by all three class teams was the selection of the varsity volleyball team. Consisting of fourteen members chosen from the players of the three class squads, the varsity team met after school for many hours of diligent practice in order to learn and perfect the skills necessary to play winning volleyball: the serve, set-up, spike, block, and dig. These playing skills became extremely important to varsity team members as they met other school teams in long court play.

Coached again by Miss Karen Kaufman, the volleyball team gained an undefeated season as it played in matches against Ritenour, Afton, Webster Groves, Brentwood, and Maplewood.

At pre-game meeting the referee clarifies rules for Barb Nierman and the Ritenour captain.

Girls' intramurals, held almost every Monday through Thursday for an hour after school, gave KHS girls many opportunities for practice and enjoyment of team and individual sports. Several activities ran simultaneously each afternoon to accommodate the interests of all girls. Points awarded for participation in intramural sports, class and varsity teams, and service positions allowed girls to become eligible for membership in K-Klub and to earn athletic awards. Chances to earn membership on class and varsity teams in hockey, basketball, and volleyball, and tournaments in tennis, badminton, and table tennis heightened enthusiasm for intramurals.

Included among the sports offered in the fall were hockey, speed-a-way, tennis, and gymnastics. Winter brought table tennis, basketball, and volleyball. Highlighting the spring season were badminton, golf, and softball.

Narco dear:
I am writing on this page not because I'm senior class officer and not because I'm Larry Robinson - but because I'm a senior. What can I say, Burke? Where should I start? Ever since I've known you, you've been a best friend to me. I don't believe you are so understanding. I almost think you've lived everything that I have. Your loyal friendship was so greatly appreciated - I really mean it, and oh the times we have had. Remember the S.C. poster meetings on Sundays, our jaunts to get cokes, and all the many laughs we've had - what a criminal you are. Remember

Home the Frisco Bell

The slumber

Senior Class officers Dean Hoag, Frank Neukoum, Tom Mueller, and Logie MacMillan proudly take credit that the Class of '67 "brought home the bell."

and the wedding parties and Pep Club and cheerleading and decorating and every other little thing

Larry Robinson gestures emphatically while arguing a point in class.

that has been so much fun - Mary Alice has left an indelible mark on us - we'll never forget her, too. I'm sure. Always make your happiness a habit and keep up that "laugh" you have got - it'll kill 'em out at D.V.!!! Remember crawling over the fence to look at the set-up for last year's graduation, and I cut my hand. This year it's our graduation and it makes me think of all the sad and happy things we've gone through together - they were all so great and I'll never forget them or you - I hate to say good-bye, so I'll just say "I LOVE you" and the very best of everything to you - Love, Rodman

I could write volumes to you, but I would waste space since you know how I feel about every thing ahead - Y

"Is It So Small A Thing..."

A lone student watches baseball practice from the big window in the Science building.

Marco—

We've had lots of mixed emotions in History and Journalism this year, haven't we?!
Is it so small a thing
To have enjoy'd the sun,
To have lived light in the Spring.
To have loved, to have thought, to have done? I'm glad I could share observing all of Mr. Diffley's quirks and idiosyncrasies with you - it made things brighter to have someone to laugh with!

—Matthew Arnold

Standing empty of students at the end of the day, KHS is illuminated by lights within and without.

LOTS of Luck next year.
—Congrats on May Queen!—
See you at church (?) over Xmas break

Mander,

We want to be together, but it did get to know you a little better. I consider myself lucky, because I came to know a really nice and friendly girl (I was the same stupid & angry I mean it). And that
